

My English Summer

Web Resources – Elementary 3rd and 4th graders

Previous recommendations for parents:

This dossier is intended to provide Amco Teachers and parents with a short list of online resources that AMCO recommends to practice, play, learn, and enjoy as a family. It is very important that at home parents know certain details that AMCO teachers take into account in their daily classes.

1. Practice the perfect pronunciation with the audio from Web Solution without translating the words. If the child shows interest in knowing the meaning of a word that does not know we can try to give it to him/her through explanations or mimicry. However, we recommend that you try to enjoy the activities we suggest without translating and letting the student deduce what they have to do and the meanings of the words that appear.
2. Avoid forcing the child to make the activity. The games and activities must be considered as a special family time or moment of learning English together, far from forcing the child to sit down and do the activities as homework.
3. Getting the child to repeat or practice what is heard without any adult mediating the pronunciation. The idea is that the child discriminates the native pronunciation that he/she hears in the audio and tries to repeat it as he/she hears it. Below, you will find a series of links where you will find activities, videos, songs, and fun exercises to share with your children this summer. We recommend some games that you will find without difficulty on the web, as well as applications. Remember that for all activities it is necessary to have speakers, if the computer does not have them incorporated.

Enjoy your summer!
